Juggling a Professional' s Life in the Deaf Community

Friday, March 5, 2010

9 am to 11 am

Free

9900 Page Avenue, Suite 104
(Door Number 3)
St. Louis, MO 63132

Is your life so hectic that you are losing control?

Have you been pulled into too many directions and life is out of balance?

Are people and projects dear to you falling through the cracks?

Do you even know who and what is truly important to you?

Are you even sure being a professional in the deaf community is right for you?

Come, explore your innermost desires, and identify areas of change with an experienced coach.

Come clarify your visions, goals and ideas in an encouraging and supportive environment.

This presentation will be an interactive and integrated learning or exploration workshop for all signers, sign language students, interpreter students, family members, members of the deaf community and professionals who work with deaf persons such as social workers, teachers, psychologists and other professionals.

Interpreter will be provided if requested.

MICS/RID CEU's pending.
